THE President has appointed Fred. Douglass, the well known colored orator, that henceforward there must be an im United States Marshal for the District of Columbia. This is a notice on the part of the President to the South, and to the whole country, that he intends to stand firmly by the rights of the colored race. The appointment is intended to have that sort of significance, and it will be thus understood and interpreted at the South, and consequently will do much good by at once letting all whom it may concern understand that the color line in politics is to be at a heavy discount during the next four years.

The appointment is a good one in itself. Fred, Douglass is an unusually bright and capable man. Few men of as much brains as he possesses ever held the position. In former days it was part of the fancy duties of the office to introduce visitors to the President at White House receptions Whether Fred, will be called to the President's side on such occasions remains to be seen. The "ancien noblesse" of Washington will be somewhat shocked if he should be, but, on the other hand, the British minister and the English nation generally(among whom Fred, has refugeed in times past) will be delighted.

Among those who went up to the stockholders meeting of the Tuscarawas Valley Cleveland on Wednesday were Capt. McLure and A. G. Robinson, Esq. They made a trip over the road from Urichsville to Black River harbor, 25 miles west of Cleveland, and were great ly pleased with it in every particular, and especially with its excellent termina facilities for an immense business in coal and ore at Black River. The harbor is one of the very best on the Lake, and is owned by the railroad company. At this point the company have already compleand unload hundreds of car loads of freight per day. It is almost incredible with what case, speed and economy ves-sels can be loaded and discharged. It is said that coal can be carried from Black River to Milwankee as low as 20 cents per

Messrs, McLure and Robinson attende the stockholders' meeting at Cleveland where the question of extending the road from Urichsville to this city came up and where it was with entire unanimity decided to do so. How far this decision will be affected by the success or failure of the movement to raise $50,000 of atock in our midst, we are not informed, we gather, however, from the report of the proceedings of the meeting that President Chamberlain thinks $50,000 a very small amount to ask from Wheeling to insure the completion of this important road to Bridgeport. It is said that he named $1 50 per ton for ore, delivered at the Wheeling furnaces, as a price that the Wheeling furnaces, as a price that was willing to carry at on the completion of his road. This he thought would be an invaluable reduction to Wheeling, as it would give her almost stock in our midst, we are not informed. car additional to the furnaces on this side. The Tuscarawas company propose to run their cars on to flats at West Wheeling and deliver ore direct to the different furnace landings on both sides of the rive at a lower price than the C. & P. now

By the way it is said that the latte company are on the look out for this new departure, and propose just as soon as it approaches consummation to mak sort of a transfer of ore to ou mills and furnaces. They are not going the prospective competition of the Tuscarawas road. They will seimply come to that point of accommodation when to that point of accommodation when they can not help themselves. This is the way of the world, and perhaps we have no right to criticize such a policy, but we may nevertheless observe that if the Cleveland & Pittaburgh Company were to make the proposed change right away, they would retain a stronger hold on the affections of the iron men hereabouts than they will otherwise find awaiting them when the Tuscarawas Valley sets foot on our shores.

For instance, when the Rev. Mr Hills was on the stand, Rev. McCune asked him whether he believed that a man could be a Christian and not believe in the infallibility of the Bible. He re plied that a man could be a Christian, is his judgment, and not so believe. The Rev. Dr. Skinner-then put the question in a little different shape, and addressed the witness thus:

"Do you say that a man may Christian and not believe in the infalli-pility of the Word of God?"

To this question Dr. Hills replied "I did not say that; I said I thought man might be a Christian without believ ing in the infallibility of the whole Bible? These insurgents boast that they will force the Government of the United States to abandon Governor Packard, and thus to diaregard its sacred obligation to the State, or to establish a military government, If the President yields to this threat, it will be only to encourage rebellion against the laws. The question involved here is a question of fact and of law, and not of sentiment. There can be but one lawful government in a State, and when another asserts authority it is the bounden duty asserts authority it is the bounden duty of the President to furnish the needfu assistance. It has been boastfully stated that the tax-payers will pay their taxes therfully to Nicholls' appointees. The truth is, not one of his appointees can awfully collect any taxes; because they truth is, not one of his appointees can lawfully collect any taxes; because the licences which are collectable at once have to be endorsed by the State Treasurer, who holds the office from the 1874 election, and who does not recognize Mr. Nicholl's appointees.
